

Future Science & Education

Our current education system is compartmentalized, ineffective and obscures the base principles which are essential to and underlie the foundations of every field of science. Rather than adding new rooms onto a house built on unstable foundations, we need to strip away false data and rebuild the system from the ground up, based on unified and universally applicable principles, such as frequency and geometry.

Core Curriculum

- Frequency
- Geometry
- Electromagnetism / Plasmoid Unification
- Vortex Based / Vedic Mathematics

Frequency

"If you want to find the secrets of the universe, think in terms of energy, frequency and vibration" - Nikola Tesla

All material forms are AC field perturbations of the Aether or unified field. Everything in our reality including sound, light, elements, cosmic cycles and technology can be considered in terms of frequency (cycles per given unit of time) and harmonic resonance. Without understanding frequency, we are only dealing with secondary systems and convoluted terminology that do not truly represent reality.

Sacred Geometry

Geometry shares a direct correspondence with frequency. It is considered sacred when it aligns with universal principles of harmonic resonance. Geometry is a tool which we can use to influence electromagnetic forces (all forms of energy). Frequency influences geometry and geometry influences frequency. Together they are the core foundational principles from which all things can be understood.

Electromagnetism / Plasmoid Unification

Electromagnetism is the most important manifestation of frequency. Everything in this universe has (or more specifically is) an electromagnetic field, including humans, elements, plants, rocks, and everything in between. By understanding electromagnetism purely in terms of frequency and geometry, we can get to the core of how to make America (and the Earth) great again.

99% of the universe takes the form of Plasma. The term Plasmoid simply refers to structured Plasma or a coherent, self-contained electromagnetic field. Understanding the structure and behavior of Plasma gives us the mechanism to understand the true nature of electricity and magnetism.

Vortex Based / Vedic Mathematics

"Numbers are real and alive." - Marko Rodin

We have lost 80% of our understanding of numbers. We write increasingly complex equations using the remaining 20%. Numbers are an ancient language that contain far more information than what is currently being taught.

There is a self-evident harmonic correspondence between certain ancient systems of measurement and division for time, space, volume, mass, energy, temperature, and other quantitative variables that were previously used by ancient advanced civilizations.

Applications / Pathways

- Music & Art
- Astronomy
- Health & Healing / The Human Biofield
- Architecture
- Engineering & Technology
- True History
- etc...

We can then apply this unified core curriculum of Frequency, Geometry, Electromagnetism and Mathematics to all other fields of study.

Currently our systems for communication, power generation and distribution only utilize a small percentage of available energy. The remainder of the energy produced (such as exhaust emissions and back EMF) is considered a waste product and is a cause for environmental concern. By employing the core curriculum in the design and construction of new technologies, we can mitigate waste in these systems and instead utilize the untapped waste energy to increase efficiency as nature intended.

We live in an interconnected world. Our environment greatly affects the condition of our physical, mental & spiritual well-being. By bringing our technology, music, art, cities and surroundings into harmonic resonance with nature and the cosmos, we create a feedback mechanism that will, in turn, elevate the human condition.

We have built a team of skilled specialists and teachers to prepare and deliver a curriculum which can be used as the basis for a new education system that will allow the next generation to sustainably prosper and flourish as we move into the future.

Yours sincerely,

On behalf of the team,
